ESSAY TIPS

First, to prepare for writing a paper, you need to choose a compelling topic. In this case, the topic is yourself, here are the key qualities of a good essay to keep in mind:

- It should be thoughtful and relevant
- It should be personal and reveal your individuality
- It should give you the scope to highlight your best qualities
- It should be engaging
- It should provide an insight into your experience or aspect of your background
- It will help you tell the admission committee something they don't already know (i.e. something that can't be seen in your application)
- It should not be to brag.

These tips should help prompt. However, the most important tip is to be yourself. It is not necessary to write about some major achievement or unbelievable experience. The committee wants to know who you are as a person, so even if you write something very basic, but manage to share your story - you will win.
